Mr. Speaker laid before the House a copy of the speech delivered by the President of the United States to both Houses of Congress in the Senate chamber, as followeth:

Fellow Citizens of the Senate and House of Representatives:

In meeting you again, I feel much satisfaction in being able to repeat my congratulations on the favorable prospects which continue to distinguish our public affairs. The abundant fruits of another year have blessed our country with plenty, and with the means of a flourishing commerce. The progress of public credit is witnessed by a considerable rise of American Stock abroad as well as at home. And the revenues allotted for this and other national purposes, have been productive beyond the calculations by which they were regulated. This latter circumstance is the more pleasing, as it is not only a proof of the fertility of our resources, but as it assures us of a further increase of the national respectability and credit; and let me add, as it bears an honorable testimony to the patriotism and integrity of the mercantile and marine part of our citizens: The punctuality of the former in discharging their engagements has been exemplary.

In conformity to the powers vested in me by acts of the last session, a loan of three millions of florins, towards which some provisional measures had previously taken place, has been completed in Holland. As well the celerity with which it has been filled, as the nature of the terms, (considering the more than ordinary demand for borrowing created by the situation of Europe,) give a reasonable hope that the further execution of those powers may proceed with advantage and success. The Secretary of the Treasury has my direction to communicate such further particulars as may be requisite for more precise information.

Since your last sessions, I have received communications, by which it appears that the District of Kentucky, at present a part of Virginia, has concurred in certain propositions contained in a law of that State; in consequence of which the district is to become a distinct member of the Union, in case the requisite sanction of Congress be added. For this sanction application is now made.

I shall cause the papers on this very important transaction to be laid before you. The liberality and harmony with which it has been conducted, will be found to do great honor to both the parties. And the sentiments of warm attachment to the Union, and its present Government, expressed by our fellow-citizens of Kentucky, cannot fail to add an affectionate concern for their particular welfare, to the great national impressions under which you will decide on the case submitted to you.

It has been heretofore known to Congress, that frequent incursions have been made on our frontier settlements by certain banditti of Indians from the Northwest side of the Ohio. These, with some of the tribes dwelling on and near the Wabash, have of late been particularly active in their depredations; and being emboldened by the impunity of their crimes, and aided by such parts of the neighboring tribes as could be seduced to join in their hostilities, or afford them a retreat for their prisoners and plunder, they have, instead of listening to the humane invitations and overtures made on the part of the United States, renewed their violences with fresh alacrity and greater effect. The lives of a number of valuable citizens have thus been sacrificed, and some of them under circumstances peculiarly shocking; whilst others have been carried into a deplorable captivity.

These aggravated provocations rendered it essential to the safety of the Western settlements, that the aggressors should be made sensible that the Government of the Union is not less capable of punishing their crimes, than it is disposed to respect their rights and reward their attachments. As this object could not be effected by defensive measures, it became necessary to put in force the act which empowers the President to call out the militia for the protection of the frontiers. And I have accordingly authorized an expedition, in which the regular troops in that quarter are combined with such draughts of militia as were deemed sufficient. The event of the measure is yet unknown to me. The Secretary of War is directed to lay before you a statement of the information on which it is founded, as well as an estimate of the expense with which it will be attended.

The disturbed situation of Europe, and particularly the critical posture of the great maritime Powers, whilst it ought to make us the more thankful for the general peace and security enjoyed by the United States, reminds us, at the same time, of the circumspection with which it becomes us to preserve these blessings. It requires also that we should not overlook the tendency of a war, and even of preparations for a war, among the nations most concerned in active commerce with this country, to abridge the means, and thereby at least enhance the price of transporting its valuable productions to their proper markets. I recommend it to your serious reflections, how far, and in what mode, it may be expedient to guard against embarrassments from these contingencies, by such encouragements to our own navigation as will render our commerce and agriculture least dependent on foreign bottoms, which may fail us in the very moment most interesting to both of these great objects. Our fisheries, and the transportation of our own produce, offer us abundant means for guarding ourselves against this evil.

Your attention seems to be not less due to that particular branch of our trade which belongs to the Mediterranean. So many circumstances unite in rendering the present state of it distressful to us, that you will not think any deliberations misemployed which may lead to its relief and protection.

The laws you have already passed for the establishment of a Judiciary System, have opened the doors of justice to all descriptions of persons. You will consider in your wisdom, whether improvements in that system may yet be made; and particularly, whether an uniform process of execution on sentences issuing from the Federal Courts, be not desirable through all the States.

The patronage of our commerce, of our merchants and seamen, has called for the appointment of Consuls in foreign countries. It seems expedient to regulate by law the exercise of that jurisdiction, and those functions which are permitted them, either by express convention, or by a friendly indulgence in the places of their residence. The consular convention too with his Most Christian Majesty, has stipulated, in certain cases, the aid of the national authority to his Consuls established here. Some legislative provision is requisite to carry these stipulations into full effect.

The establishment of the Militia—of a Mint—of standards of Weights and Measures—of the Post Office and Post Roads—are subjects which (I presume) you will resume of course, and which are abundantly urged by their own importance.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives :

The sufficiency of the revenues you have established, for the objects to which they are appropriated, leaves no doubt but the residuary provisions will be commensurate to the other objects, for which the public faith stands now pledged. Allow me moreover, to hope, that it will be a favorite policy with you, not merely to secure a payment of the interest of the debt funded, but as far and as fast as the growing resources of the country will permit, to exonerate it of the principal itself. The appropriations you have made of the Western lands, explain your dispositions on this subject: And I am persuaded, that the sooner that valuable fund can be made to contribute, along with other means, to the actual reduction of the public debt, the more salutary will the measure be to every public interest, as well as the more satisfactory to our constituents.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

In pursuing the various and weighty business of the present session, I indulge the fullest persuasion that your consultations will be equally marked with wisdom, and animated by the love of your country. In whatever belongs to my duty, you shall have all the co-operation which an undiminished zeal for its welfare can inspire.

It will be happy for us both, and our best reward, if, by a successful administration of our respective trusts, we can make the established Government more and more instrumental in promoting the good of our fellow citizens, and more and more the objects of their attachment and confidence.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 11.

The House, according to the order of the day, resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole House on the address to the President of the United States, in answer to his speech to both Houses of Congress; and, after some time spent therein,

Mr. Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Livermore reported that the committee had, according to order, had the said address under consideration, and made no amendment thereto.

Resolved, unanimously, That this House doth agree to the said address, in the words following:

SIR: The Representatives of the People of the United States have taken into consideration your address to the two Houses at the opening of the present session of Congress.

We share in the satisfaction inspired by the prospects which continue to be so auspicious to our public affairs. The blessings resulting from the smiles of Heaven on our agriculture; the rise of public credit, with the further advantages promised by it; and the fertility of resources which are found so little burdensome to the community; fully authorize our mutual congratulations on the present occasion. Nor can we learn without an additional gratification, that the energy of the laws for providing adequate revenues, have been so honorably seconded by those classes of citizens whose patriotism and probity were more immediately concerned.

The success of the loan opened in Holland, under the disadvantages of the present moment, is the more important, as it not only denotes the confidence already placed in the United States, but as the effect of a judicious application of that aid, will still further illustrate the solidity of the foundation on which the public credit rests.

The preparatory steps taken by the State of Virginia, in concert with the District of Kentucky, towards the erection of the latter into a distinct member of the Union, exhibit a liberality mutually honorable to the parties. We shall bestow on this important subject the favorable consideration which it merits; and with the national policy which ought to govern our decision, shall not fail to mingle the affectionate sentiments which are awakened by those expressed on behalf of our fellow citizens of Kentucky.

Whilst we regret the necessity which has produced offensive hostilities against some of the Indian tribes Northwest of the Ohio, we sympathise too much with our Western brethren, not to behold with approbation the watchfulness and vigor which have been exerted by the Executive authority for their protection; and which we trust will make the aggressors sensible that it is their interest to merit, by a peaceable behavior, the friendship and humanity which the United States are always ready to extend to them.

The encouragement of our own navigation has at all times appeared to us highly important. The point of view under which you have recommended it to us, is strongly enforced by the actual state of things in Europe. It will be incumbent on us to consider in what mode our commerce and agriculture can be best relieved from an injurious dependence on the navigation of other nations, which the frequency of their wars renders a too precarious resource for conveying the productions of our country to market.

The present state of our trade to the Mediterranean seems not less to demand, and will accordingly receive, the attention which you have recommended.

Having already concurred in establishing a Judiciary System, which opens the doors of justice to all, without distinction of persons, it will be our disposition to incorporate every improvement which experience may suggest. And we shall consider in particular how far the uniformity, which, in other cases, is found convenient in the administration of the General Government through all the States, may be introduced into the forms and rules of executing sentences issuing from the Federal Courts.

The proper regulation of the jurisdiction and functions which may be exercised by Consuls of the United States in foreign countries, with the provisions stipulated to those of his Most Christian Majesty established here, are subjects of too much consequence to the public interest and honor not to partake of our deliberations.

We shall renew our attention to the establishment of the Militia, and the other subjects unfinished at the last session, and shall proceed in them with all the despatch which the magnitude of all, and the difficulty of some of them, will allow.

Nothing has given us more satisfaction than to find that the revenues heretofore established have proved adequate to the purposes to which they were allotted. In extending the provision to the residuary objects, it will be equally our care to secure sufficiency and punctuality in the payments due from the Treasury of the United States. We shall, also, never lose sight of the policy of diminishing the public debt as fast as the increase of the public resources will permit; and are particularly sensible of the many considerations which press a resort to the auxiliary resource furnished by the public lands.

In pursuing every branch of the weighty business of the present session, it will be our constant study to direct our deliberations to the public welfare. Whatever our success may be, we can at least answer for the fervent love of our country, which ought to animate our endeavors. In your co-operation we are sure of a resource, which fortifies our hopes that the fruits of the established Government will justify the confidence which has been placed in it, and recommend it more and more to the affection and attachment of our fellow citizens.

Resolved, That Mr. Speaker, attended by the House, do present the said address; and that Mr. Madison, Mr. Ames, and Mr. Tucker, be a committee to wait on the President, to know when and where it will be convenient for him to receive the same.

Ordered, That Mr. Williamson and Mr. Sherman be added to the committee appointed to prepare and bring in a bill or bills to amend the act, entitled "An act to promote the progress of useful arts."

Mr. Madison, from the committee appointed to wait on the President of the United States, to know when and where it will be convenient for him to receive the address of this House, in answer to his speech to both Houses of Congress, reported

That the committee had, according to order, waited on the President, who signified to them that it would be convenient to him to receive the said address at two o'clock on Monday next at his own house.

And then the House adjourned until Monday morning eleven o'clock.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 13.

Several other members, to wit : from Massachusetts, George Leonard ; from Delaware, John Vining ; from Virginia, Josiah Parker ; from North Carolina, John Baptist Ashe ; and from South Carolina, Edanus Burke ; appeared and took their seats.

The Speaker laid before the House a letter from the Secretary of the Treasury, accompanying his report of a farther provision for the establishment of the public credit, made pursuant to an order of the House of the ninth day of August last ; which were read, and ordered to be committed to a Committee of the Whole House on this day se'nnight.

A petition of Jesse Holt was presented to the House and read, praying to be placed on the list of pensioners, in consideration of wounds received in the service of the United States during the late war. Also,

A petition of Thomas M'Intire, praying to be allowed the commutation of half-pay as an officer in the Army of the United States during the late war.

Also, a petition of Joanna Gardener, widow of Colonel Thomas Gardener, late of Massachusetts, deceased, praying that the provision, made by an act of the late Congress, for the relief of the widows and children of officers who have died in the service of the United States, may be extended to her and to her children.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Secretary of War, with instruction to examine the same, and report his opinion thereupon to the House.

Ordered, That the several petitions of Alexander Fowler, which were presented to the House on Tuesday last, be referred to the Secretary of the Treasury, with instruction to examine the same, and report his opinion thereupon to the House.

Mr. Speaker, attended by the House, then withdrew to the house of the President of the United States, and there presented to him the address of this House, in answer to his speech to both Houses of Congress ; to which the President made the following reply :

Gentlemen : The sentiments expressed in your address are entitled to my particular acknowledgment.

Having no object but the good of our country, this testimony of approbation and confidence from its immediate Representatives must be among my best rewards, as the support of your enlightened patriotism has been among my greatest encouragements. Being persuaded that you will continue to be actuated by the same auspicious principle, I look forward to the happiest consequences from your deliberations during the present session.

G. WASHINGTON.

And then, Mr. Speaker and the members being returned,
The House adjourned until to-morrow morning eleven o'clock.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 14.

Ordered, That a committee be appointed to prepare and bring in a bill or bills directing the mode in which the evidences of the debt of the United States, which have been, or may be, lost or destroyed, shall be renewed ; and that Mr. Lee, Mr. Trumbull, and Mr. Cadwalader, be of the said committee.

A petition of Anne Roberts, widow of Owen Roberts, late a colonel of artillery in the Army of the United States, was presented to the House and read, praying to be allowed the seven years' half-pay of a colonel, as the widow of the said Owen Roberts, who was slain in the service of his country.

Ordered, That the said petition be referred to the Secretary of War, with instruction to examine the same, and report his opinion thereupon to the House.

A motion was made, and the question being put, that the said petition be referred to the consideration of a committee,

It passed in the negative.

And so the said petition was rejected.

The several petitions of Timothy Mix, John Linn, Reuben Gould, and Josiah Simpson, Attorney in fact for Dorcas Frost and others, were presented to the House and read, respectively praying to receive compensation for services rendered, or for losses or injuries sustained, in the service of the United State, during the late war.

Ordered, That the said petitions be referred to the Secretary of War, with instruction to examine the same, and report his opinion thereupon to the House.

The House, according to the order of the day, resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union; and, after some time spent therein, Mr. Speaker resumed the chair, and Mr. Livermore reported that the committee had, according to order, had the state of the Union under consideration, and come to several resolutions thereupon; which he read in his place, and afterwards delivered in at the Clerk's table, where the same were again severally twice read, and agreed to by the House as followeth :

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee that immediate provision ought to be made for defraying the expenses incurred in the expedition against the Indians Northwest of the Ohio.

Resolved, That it is the opinion of this committee that a bill or bills ought to be brought in for the farther encouragement of the navigation of the United States.

UNITED STATES, January 24th, 1791.

Gentlemen of the Senate and House of Representatives:

In execution of the powers with which Congress were pleased to invest me by their act, entitled "An act for establishing the temporary and permanent seat of the Government of the United States," and on mature consideration of the advantages and disadvantages of the several positions, within the limits prescribed by the said act, I have, by a proclamation, bearing date this day, a copy of which is herewith transmitted, directed commissioners, appointed in pursuance of the act to survey and limit a part of the territory of ten miles square, on both sides the river Potomac, so as to comprehend Georgetown, in Maryland, and to extend to the Eastern Branch.

I have not, by this first act, given to the said territory the whole extent of which it is susceptible, in the direction of the river; because I thought it important that Congress should have an opportunity of considering whether, by an amendatory law, they would authorize the location of the residue at the lower end of the present, so as to comprehend the Eastern Branch itself and some of the country on its lower side, in the State of Maryland, and the town of Alexandria, in Virginia; if, however, they are of opinion that the Federal Territory should be bounded by the water edge of the Eastern Branch, the location of the residue will be to be made at the upper end of what is now directed.

I have thought best to await a survey of the territory, before it is decided on what particular spot on the Northeastern side of the river the public buildings shall be erected.

The said bill was further amended at the Clerk's table; and the following section, which was offered on Saturday last, to be added to the said bill by way of amendment, to wit:

"And be it further enacted, That the several duties imposed by this act, shall continue to be collected and paid, until the debts and purposes for which they are pledged and appropriated, shall be fully discharged and satisfied, and no longer," being under debate,

A motion was made, and the question being put, to amend the same, by striking out from the word "paid," to the end thereof, and inserting, in lieu thereof, the following words:

The impeachment shall not be tried by the Senate of the United States, or by any judicature under the authority of the State, but the Congress shall, by law, establish a Court to be held in each State, for the trial of such impeachments, to consist only of Senators of the United States, Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States, and Judges of General Judicial Courts. The trial shall be in the State where the person impeached shall reside; and every law, designating the Judges of a Court for the trial of impeachments, shall be passed previous to the impeachment; and the designation shall be, not by naming the persons, but by describing the offices, the persons in which offices for the time being, and elected or appointed previous to the impeachment, shall be the Judges; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the Judges present.

Judgments by the courts so to be established for the trial of impeachments, shall not extend further than is provided by the Constitution of the United States, in cases of impeachments, and the party, nevertheless, to be liable, and subject to indictment, trial, judgment, and punishment, according to law.

In every State where the Congress shall declare the Superior or Supreme Common Law Court to be the General Judicial Court, the Judges shall, by force of their appointments as Judges of the Superior or Supreme Common Law Court, become Judges of the General Judicial Court: and all the powers and duties of the Judges of the Superior or Supreme Common Law Court, either by the Constitution or the Laws of the State, shall devolve on the Judges of the General Judicial Court.

If on the establishment of the General Judicial Courts, the Congress shall deem proper to discontinue any of the District Courts of the United States, the Judges of the Courts so discontinued shall, thereupon, by force of their appointments as District Judges, become Judges of the General Judicial Courts in the respective States, and shall continue to receive their compensations as theretofore established.

The Judges of the Supreme or Superior Common Law Courts, and the District Judges, may, on the first establishment of the General Judicial Courts, become Judges thereof, notwithstanding the limitation of the number of Judges of the General Judicial Courts in the respective States, but as vacancies happen they shall not afterwards be filled up beyond the number limited.

For avoiding of doubts, it is declared that all officers, as well Ministerial as Judicial, in the administration of justice under the authority of a State, shall also be held to execute their respective offices, for carrying into effect the laws of the United States; and, in addition to the duties assigned to them by the laws of the State, the Congress may assign to them such farther duties as they shall deem proper for that purpose."

Resolved, That the consideration of the said amendments be deferred until the next session of Congress; and that one hundred copies thereof be printed for the use of the members of both Houses.

On a motion made and seconded, that the House do come to the following resolution:

Whereas, Congress did, by a resolution of the twenty-third of September, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine, recommend to the several States to pass laws, making it expressly the duty of the keepers of their jails to receive, and safe-keep therein, all prisoners committed under the authority of the United States:

Proceedings of the District of Kentucky, for admission into the Union as an independent State.

“DANVILLE, October 4th, 1790.

SIR: By order of Convention, I now enclose to you a copy of the resolutions of Convention, respecting the separation of the District of Kentucky from the State of Virginia; and their address to the President and Congress of the United States.

I have the honor to be, with the highest respect,

Sir, your most humble servant,

GEORGE MUTER, President of Convention.

The President of the United States.”

UNITED STATES, December 9, 1790.

A true copy.

TOBIAS LEAR, Secretary to the President of the United States.

“DISTRICT OF KENTUCKY, to wit:

IN CONVENTION, July 28, 1790.

Resolved, That it is expedient for, and the will of, the good People of the District of Kentucky, that the same be erected into an independent State, on the terms and conditions specified in an act of the Virginia Assembly, passed the eighteenth day of December, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine, entitled “An act concerning the erection of the District of Kentucky into an independent State.”

Resolved, That We, the Representatives of the People of Kentucky, duly elected in pursuance of an act of the Legislature of Virginia, passed the eighteenth day of December, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine, entitled “An act concerning the erection of the District of Kentucky into an independent State,” and now met in Convention, having, with full powers, maturely investigated the expediency of the proposed separation on the terms and conditions specified in the above recited act: do, by these presents, and in behalf of the People of Kentucky, accept the terms and conditions, and do declare that, on the first day of June, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-two, the said District of Kentucky shall become a State, separate from, and independent of, the Government of Virginia, and that the said articles become a solemn compact binding on the said People.

“To the President, and the Honorable the Congress of the United States of America:

The Memorial of the Representatives of the People of Kentucky, in Convention assembled, pursuant to an act of the Legislature of Virginia, passed the eighteenth day of December, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-nine, entitled “An act concerning the erection of the District of Kentucky into an independent State,” HUMBLY SHEWETH:

That the inhabitants of this country are as warmly devoted to the American Union, and as firmly attached to the perfect happy establishment of the Federal Government as any of the citizens of the United States. That, migrating from thence, they have, with great hazard and difficulty, effected their present settlements. The hope of increasing numbers could alone have supported the early adventurers under those arduous exertions; they have the satisfaction to find that hope verified. At this day, the population and strength of this country render it fully able, in the opinion of your memorialists, to form and support an efficient domestic Government.

The inconveniences resulting from its local situation as a part of Virginia, at first but little felt, have for some time been objects of their most serious attention; which occasioned application to the Legislature of Virginia for redress.

Here your memorialists would acknowledge, with peculiar pleasure, the benevolence of Virginia, in permitting them to remove the evils arising from that source, by assuming upon themselves a state of independence.

This they have thought expedient to do on the terms and conditions stipulated in the above recited act; and have fixed on the first day of June, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-two, as the period when the said independence shall commence.

It now remains with the President and the Congress of the United States to sanction these proceedings, by an act of their honorable Legislature, prior to the first day of November, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one, for the purpose of receiving into the Federal Union the People of Kentucky, by the name of THE STATE OF KENTUCKY.

Should this determination of your memorialists meet the approbation of the General Government, they have to call a Convention to form a Constitution, subsequent to the act of Congress, and prior to the day fixed for the independence of this country.

When your memorialists reflect on the present comprehensive system of Federal Government, and when they also recollect the determination of a former Congress on this subject, they are left without a doubt that the object of their wishes will be accomplished.

And your memorialists, as in duty bound, shall forever pray.

GEORGE MUTER, President.

And the said Commissioners do hereby declare the will of the Legislature of the State of New York, that, if the Legislature of the State of Vermont shall, on or before the first day of January, in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety-two, declare that the State of Vermont shall, on or before the first day of June, in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety-four, pay to the State of New York the sum of thirty thousand dollars, that immediately from such declaration by the Legislature of the State of Vermont, all rights and titles to lands within the State of Vermont, under grants from the Government of the late Colony of New York, or from the State of New York, except as herein after excepted, shall cease. Or if the Legislature of the State of Vermont shall not elect to make such declaration, then that, except in cases where the grants from New York were intended as confirmations of grants from New Hampshire, all rights and titles under grants from the Government of the late Colony of New York, or from the State of New York, to lands within the State of Vermont, which may have been granted by the Government of the Colony of New Hampshire, shall cease, and the boundaries, according to which such grants from the Government of the late Colony of New Hampshire have been held or possessed, shall be deemed to be the true boundaries. And the said Commissioners do hereby further declare the will of the Legislature of the State of New York, that all rights and title to lands within the State of Vermont, under grants from the Government of the late Colony of New York, or from the State of New York, and not granted by the Government of the late Colony of New Hampshire, shall be suspended until the expiration of three years after the Governor of the State of Vermont, for the time being, shall have been notified that a Commissioner, to be appointed by the State of New York, after the first day of January, in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety-two, and to reside and hold a public office at the City of Albany, shall have entered upon the execution of his office. It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont, That the first Constable in each Town shall warn the inhabitants who by law are entitled to vote for Representatives in General Assembly, in the same manner as they warn Freemens' meetings, to meet in their respective towns on the first Tuesday of December next, at ten o'clock forenoon, at the several places fixed by law for holding the annual election, and when so met they shall proceed, in the same manner as in the election of Representatives, to choose some suitable person from each town to serve as a Delegate in a State Convention, for the purpose of deliberating upon, and agreeing to, the Constitution of the United States as now established: and the said Constable shall certify to the State Convention the person so chosen in manner aforesaid. And,

It is hereby further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the person so elected to serve in State Convention as aforesaid, do assemble and meet together on the first Thursday of January next, at Bennington, in the County of Bennington, then and there to deliberate upon the aforesaid Constitution of the United States, and, if approved of by them, finally to assent to, and ratify the same, in behalf and on the part of the People of this State, and make report thereof to the Governor of this State, for the time being, to be by him communicated to the President of the United States, and the Legislature of this State.

JOSEPH FAY, Secretary.“BENNINGTON, January 22, 1791.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit to you copies of two acts of the Legislature of this State; the one directing the payment of thirty thousand dollars to the State of New York, and declaring the boundary line between the State of Vermont, and the State of New York, and extinguishing certain grants therein mentioned; the other, an act authorizing the People of this State to meet in Convention, to deliberate upon, and agree to, the Constitution of the United States; and also a copy of the proceeding of the Convention.

This will be delivered by the Honorable Nathaniel Chipman, and Lewis R. Morris, Esquires, who are appointed Commissioners to apply to the Congress of the United States for the admission of this State into the Union, whom I beg leave to recommend to your favorable notice.

I have the honor to be, with the greatest consideration and respect, sir, your most obedient and very humble servant,

THOMAS CHITTENDEN.

The President of the United States.

BY HIS EXCELLENCY THOMAS CHITTENDEN, Esquire,

Captain General, Governor, and Commander in Chief, in and over the State of Vermont.

To the Honorable Nathaniel Chipman, Esquire, and Lewis R. Morris, Esquire, greeting :

You being elected, by the Legislature of this State, Commissioners to the Congress of the United States, to apply for the admission of the State of Vermont into the Union, are hereby authorized and empowered to proceed to the Congress of the United States, now in session at the city of Philadelphia, and negotiate on behalf of this State, agreeable to your said appointment.

In testimony whereof, we have caused the Seal of this State to be affixed, in Council, at Bennington, this twenty-fourth day of January, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-one, and in the fifteenth year of the Independence of this State.

THOMAS CHITTENDEN, [L. S.]

By his Excellency's command.

JOSEPH FAY, Secretary.“The President and Congress of the United States of America :

Nathaniel Chipman and Lewis R. Morris, Commissioners, authorized and appointed by the State of Vermont, most respectfully represent, that the citizens of that State having shared, in common with those of the other States, in the hazards and burthens of establishing the American Revolution, have long anxiously desired to be united with them, under the same General Government. They have seen with great satisfaction a new and more perfect union of the People of America : and the unanimity with which they have recently approved the National Constitution, manifests their attachment to it, and the zeal with which they desire to participate its benefits.

Questions of interfering jurisdiction between them and the State of New York have heretofore delayed this application : these points being now happily adjusted, the mememorialists, on behalf of their constituents, most respectfully petition, that the Congress will consent to the admission of the State of Vermont, by that name and style, as a new and entire member of the United States.

They have the honor to accompany this memorial with such papers and documents as have relation to the same ; and with the highest deference for the wisdom of Congress, the memorialists repeat their solicitations that, during their present session, they would be pleased to adopt such measures as will include within the National Government, a People zealous to support and defend it.

LEWIS R. MORRIS.

REGISTER'S OFFICE, 31st December, 1790.

The preceding statement of Samuel Meredith, Treasurer of the United States, his amount of indents of interest received and paid, commencing on the first day of July, one thousand seven hundred and ninety, and ending on the thirtieth day of September following, is a true copy of the original, transmitted to me by the Coptroller of the Treasury, to be entered in the Treasury books, and to be filed in this office.

JOSEPH NOURSE, Register.

AUDITOR'S OFFICE, December 16th, 1790.

I have examined the accounts of Samuel Meredith, Esquire, Treasurer of the United States, commencing on the 1st day of July, and ending on the 30th day of September, 1790, and find that, by the statement of his accounts to the 1st day of July last, it appeared that he was accountable to the United States for the sum of - $ 155,320 23

And that warrants had been drawn in his favor on Collectors, which remained unpaid, as particularized in said statement, amounting to - 11,290

I also find that since the 1st day of July, 1790, the Treasurer has paid sundry warrants which were drawn on him before that day, and included in the former settlement, to the amount of - 125 79

Which sum being deducted from the amount last mentioned, will leave the balance which appeared to be due to the United States, by the records of the Treasury, on the 1st day of July, 1790, agreeably to the statement of the Treasurer's accounts to that period, - 166,484 44

$ 166,610 23

On examining the Treasury records, it appears that the Treasurer is chargeable in his accounts from June 30th till 30th September, 1790, for the following sums, viz.

To the balance due the United States, by the books of the Treasury, on the 1st day of July, 1790, - $ 166,484 44

To contingent funds for the amount of warrant on James Blanchard, - $ 394 10

For the amount of do. on Nathaniel Gilman, - 800

For interest received on Theodosius Fowler and Company's note, - 8 98

1,203 08

To general account of moneys arising from the acts imposing duties on merchandise and tonnage, for the amount of warrants drawn in favor of the Treasurer on Collectors, from 30th June, to 30th of September, 1790, inclusive, agreeably to the Register's account, - 444,283 06

Amounting in the whole to - $ 611,970 58

It also appears that warrants have been drawn on the Treasurer, from July 1st till September, 30th 1790, which were charged as expenditures on account of the following appropriations, to wit :

Upon the appropriation granted to defray the expenses incident to the sessions of Congress, anno 1790, as specified in the statement herewith—the sum of - $ 65,578 29

Upon the appropriation of $ 147,169 54 as per do. 5,901 77

Upon the appropriation of 155,537 72 as per do. 33,625 20

Upon the appropriation of 141,492 73 as per do. 39,383 87

Upon the appropriation of 190,000 as per do. 75,038 32

Upon the appropriation of 96,000 as per do. 11,827 33

Upon the appropriation of 96,979 72 as per do. 1,008

Upon the appropriation of 216,000 as per do. 400

Upon the appropriation of 104,327 22 as per do. 20,926 52

Upon the appropriation of 20,000 as per do. 7,000

Upon the appropriation of 50,000 as per do. 541 75

Upon the appropriation of 1,309 71 as per do. 1,309 71

Upon the appropriation of 10,000 as per do. 1,165 58

Upon the appropriation of 200 as per do. 200

Upon the appropriation of 120 as per do. 120

Amounting in the whole to - 264,026 34

Leaving a balance due to the United States on the first day of October, 1790, agreeably to the records of the Treasury, (including 8 dollars and 98 cents, not yet charged in the public books) of - - - 347,944 24

Total $ 611,970 58

I find that, to ascertain the actual balance, for which the Treasurer was accountable on the first day of October, 1790, the following sums ought to be added to the balance appearing due by the foregoing statement, being the amount of warrants drawn on the Treasurer, which had not been discharged by him, viz:

Warrant No. 577, in favor of Geo. Bush, not produced,	$1,008 00
614, I. Elmer,	924 00
669, B. Harrison,	24 00
671, M. Smith,	57 28
672, L'Roy and Bayard	3,087 71
	5,100 99

Which, when added to the balance due by the foregoing statement, will amount to $353,045 23

From the foregoing balance the following sums are to be deducted, being the amount of warrants in favor of the Treasurer, on account of which he had not received payment, viz:

Warrant No. 267, on William Heth,	$3,000 00
485, on Benjamin Lincoln,	358 00
524, on do.	17 00

Amounting, in the whole, to $3,375 00

Which will leave the sum, for which the Treasurer was accountable to the United States, on the first day of October, 1790, $349,670 23

It appears, from the accounts rendered by the Treasurer, and the records of the Treasury, that said sum of three hundred and forty-nine thousand six hundred and seventy dollars and twenty-three cents, consisted of the following particulars, viz:

Commissions charged by the Bank of Massachusetts, in this and the preceding quarters, on deposits not admitted to his credit,	$90 52
Charge for transporting money, in the last quarter's account, including eight cents balance of errors, not admitted	1 46
Protests of drafts on William Lindsay, not admitted	41 47
Warrant in favor of Geo. Bush, No. 577, said to be paid by the Treasurer, but not produced,	1,008 00
Cash in the hands of Samuel Meredith, Esquire, as agent to the trustees for reducing the public debt,	51,477 90
Cash in the Bank of North America, - - - -	89,533 66
Do. in the Bank of New York, - - - -	197,097 41
Do. in the Bank of Massachusetts, - - - -	10,419 81

Amounting, as before stated, to $349,670 23

The statement and vouchers on which this report is founded, are herewith transmitted for the decision of the Comptroller of the Treasury thereon.

OLIVER WOLCOTT, Jun. Auditor.

To NICHOLAS EVELEIGH, Esq. Comptroller of the Treasury.

From the foregoing balance is now to be deducted No. 577 warrant, in favor of Geo. Bush, of 1,008 dollars, which is since produced, making the balance $348,662 23

N. B. The above warrant, No. 577, is to be charged as an expenditure upon the appropriation of 96,979 dollars and 72 cents.

COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE, 27th December, 1790.

Admitted and certified.
